

Call for Papers

UNIC invites authorities, lecturers, and Ph.D. students of its affiliated faculties and institutes to the launch of the new

European Research Network for Religion, Society and Culture UNIC-RESCUe, and its First Annual Virtual Conference:

New Research Approaches to the Crossroads of Religion, Society, and Culture in 'Super-Diverse' Cities

December, 11th & 12th 2023 (Online)

The conference will explore the newest research approaches for the study of the intersection between religion, society, and culture in European metropolis, with a special emphasis on:

- Integrative frameworks for the study of religion and society
- Novel methodological developments and approaches, including Engaged Research
- Incidence of religious speeches and practices in the social, cultural, or political arena
- Socio-religious super-diversity and its incidence in public and educative policies
- Dynamics of toleration, assimilation, or integration of socio-religious minorities
- The socio-political instrumentalization of religious/theological speeches or belongings
- Related topics

For participation register here: <https://forms.gle/KcjSN3KDRj7iQm9dA>

Researchers of all UNIC faculties are invited to send their paper proposals (max. 300 words) by the 1st of November, 2023 to:

Daniel Jara J. (Daniel.Jarajhayya@rub.de) more information here

The conference papers will be included in the first edition of the UNIC-RESCUe book series.